Alliance Is Given Red Okay

Soviet, Seven Other European Commie Nations Will Sign Document Saturday

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—The Soviet Union and seven other European Communist nations approved today the draft of a security pact which is to place their military forces under a unified command.

A Soviet spokesman told a news conference the treaty and other documents will be signed at 10 a. m. tomorrow and published after the signing.

The premiers, foreign ministers and defense ministers of the eight Warsaw conference nations approved the treaty and the unified command decision at a 30-minute session this morning.

The treaty draft, designed to counter West Germany's rearmament as NATO's 15th member, provides for mutual economic aid and cultural exchanges as well as mutual security of the Red bloc.

There has been speculation that Marshal Ivan S. Konev, Soviet deputy defense minister, will become supreme commander.

But the Soviet spokesman said he cannot yet disclose details of the command decision or say which of the eight nation's generals would get the top spot. Some consider the job may go to Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky, the Russian war hero who now heads Poland's armed forces.

Soviet Premier Bulganin told the opening session of the Warsaw conference Wednesday the pact the alliance will automatically dissolve itself if any all-European security system can be devised.

It was not ascertained immediately whether the decision to establish a unified command is to be embodied in the main treaty or in a separate document.

The signing will be held in Poland's Parliament building, the spokesman said. Premier Bulganin and other leaders of conference delegations are due to speak at a mass open air meeting in the afternoon.

Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov is expected to leave Warsaw tomorrow to attend a Vienna meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers expected to culminate in the signing of the Austrian independence treaty. The Soviet spokesman said he could not give details of Molotov's travel arrangements.

House Approves Manpower Cut Pushed By Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Overwhelmingly approved by the House, President Eisenhower's program to cut military manpower during the next fiscal year headed today for a new fight in the Senate.

Despite outspoken criticism from some senators, advance indications were that the President would be upheld also by the Senate when it gets around to voting on the subject some weeks hence.

The House yesterday passed 382-0 the bill to give the Defense Department $31,488,206,000 in new funds for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Amendments which would have boosted the bill's money total and maintained military power during the new year at levels projected for June 30 of this year were beaten on voice votes.

Fishing Appears 'Fair To Good' Downstate

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Fishing ranged from fair to good in southern Missouri's big lakes and rushing rivers this week, the State Conservation Commission reported today.

Rain Letting Up

Looks like the showers have about quit for now but farmers in the area hope it's not for long. The overcast skies are gloomy to look at but allow the moisture to soak into the ground.

Clearing and cooler tonight with low in low 50s, Saturday generally fair and warmer, highest in 70s.

The temperature at 7 a. m. was 57; 60 at 1 p. m., and 61 at 2 p. m. Rainfall since Wednesday morning 1.77 inches.

The temperature one year ago today, high 72, low 44; two years ago, high 58, low 40, with .07 inch of moisture, and three years ago, high 72 and low 42.

Stage at Lake of the Ozarks 50.2.

Steady Rain Restores Some of the County's Moisture; Still Short

During Wednesday, Thursday and Friday morning, Sedalia was soaked with a steady rain that was also county-wide and which measured a total of 1.77 inches as of 1 p. m. Friday.

In the past 24 hours alone, .87 inch of rain fell. Overcast skies all three days prevented the sun from evaporating most of it and it drained into the ground.

The total for the year so far, however, is still 4.46 inches below the average rainfall for the first 4½ months.

Auto Crash Causes Only Minor Hurts

Minor injuries were suffered by occupants of two automobiles which were in collision on the Green Ridge Road, (Highway B) about four miles east and north of Green Ridge at 9:45 a. m. Friday. The damages to the cars was extensive.

Mrs. Gladys Bullard, 55, was driving out of her driveway on to the highway from the south side of the road as J. Forrest Rice, 34, Green Ridge, was headed east on the road. Mrs. Bullard was driving a 1949 Chevrolet sedan, and according to Trooper Pete Stohr, as she pulled onto the gravel road saw the oncoming car and came to an abrupt stop.

Trooper Stohr reported Rice, who was driving a 1953 Ford sedan, apparently endeavored to miss the automobile coming out on to the road by pulling his car to the left in hopes of going around behind it. Instead the car of Mrs. Bullard stopped abruptly and the Ford crashed into the left side of the Chevrolet.

The left front door of the Chevrolet was driven in almost to the steering wheel and Mrs. Bullard was knocked over in the seat. The entire left side of the Chevrolet was smashed in, doing several hundred dollars worth of damage to it. The front end of the Ford was smashed in and damage to it was estimated at more than $400.

Trooper Stohr, in reporting the damage to the Chevrolet, declared the loss was so extensive that he considered the car demolished.

Mrs. Bullard reported she was not hurt badly but complained of her left side hurting and went to a Dr. H. A. Hite for treatment.

She was alone in the car. With Rice were Mrs. Rice and their two-year-old son and seven-month-old baby. Mrs. Rice struck the windshield of the Ford with her chin and an injury to her chin and minor bruises. Mr. Rice seeing he couldn't avoid hitting the car threw his right hand in front of his son, saving him from being thrown against the dash or windshield and probably saving him from injuries.

The baby was riding in a bassinette on the back seat of the car and as the crash came, the bassinette rolled from the seat and the baby rolled out on the floor of the car but was not believed injured.

Vienna Greets Dulles For Treaty Signing

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—U. S. Secretary of State Dulles arrived in jubilant Vienna today to sign the Austrian treaty of independence.

It was a gratifying moment for the American diplomat, who had insisted the ambassadors of the Big Four powers reach agreement on treaty terms before the foreign ministers meet for the actual signing.

Austria Gains Freedom Sun. After 17 Years

VIENNA (AP)—Austria will become a legally free nation again Sunday, barring some unexpected hitch.

The Big Four ambassadors agreed last night on the text of an Austrian independence treaty. Formal signing by U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan, French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay and Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov was scheduled Sunday.

Some Viennese began to celebrate last night. But most of this Alpine nation's seven million population reacted slowly after 17 years of military occupation—7 under the Nazis and 10 under the wartime Allies.

Within three months of the treaty ratification, the 70,000 occupation troops of the Big Four will be withdrawn and Austria's freedom will be complete.

East and West haggled for years over the treaty. As late as Monday the Russians precipitated a last-minute deadlock by refusing to write into the treaty reparations concessions they had promised earlier. Last night they finally yielded to Western insistence.

The treaty provides for Austrian independence and sovereignty and the withdrawal of occupation forces. It sets the nation's boundaries at those existing before the 1938 Anschluss, the forced union with Hitler's Reich.

Postpone Pettis Boy Scouts Camp-O-Ree

Camp-O-Ree for the Boy Scouts of Pettis County has been postponed until the weekend of May 20, 21 and 22, according to Boy Scout District Chairman Harry Naugel. Camp O-Ree is scheduled to begin at 6 p. m. Friday, May 20.

The postponement came after a report the site is flooded with water following rains the past few days.

UN Command Charges Reds In MIG Attack

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—The U. N. command in a protest to the Military Armistice Commission today charged an "unprovoked" attack Tuesday by Communist MIG's on American Sabre Jets "was clearly over international waters."

Peiping radio broadcast a few hours later Communist China's assertion that the Sabres had "intruded over northeast China." The Reds' official People's Daily said, "Tuesday's incident was a premeditated act of aggression."

The U. N. protest and Peiping radio also disputed on losses in the eight-minute air battle.

The U. N. protest said the Sabres, attacked "some 55 miles southwest of Sinuiju," were obliged to defend themselves and in so doing destroyed two or more MIG aircraft while sustaining no losses.

People's Daily said one Sabre Jet was shot down and two were damaged. It called the U. S. report of two MIGs downed and two probably destroyed a "brazen willful perversion of the truth."

It said, "Chinese fighters rose to intercept them (the Sabres) and shot down one and damaged two. These are the facts."

In the protest the U. N. Command charged the Reds were "endeavoring to utilize" Korean bases as a "privileged sanctuary."

Urge Prosecution Of Elm City Bus Lines In Illinois

JACKSONVILLE, Illinois (AP)—State's Attorney Albert W. Hall said today he has under study a recommendation of the Illinois Commerce Commission that the Elm City Bus Lines be prosecuted for abandoning service in Jacksonville without permission.

Hall said he has received a transcript of the commission's proceedings and "it is under study." Penalty provisions of the Illinois public utilities law are fines of $500 to $2,000 a day against a company and $1,000 fine and up to a year in jail against company officers.

The Elm City Bus Lines which were abandoned in Jacksonville, Ill., recently were operated by Glen Watson, president, who formerly operated the City Bus Lines in Sedalia and who has his headquarters in Columbia.

The lines here were taken over by Watson from Marvin Howard and Olin Howard and operated for several months. He then ceased operations and the Howard Brothers resumed the operations for a time.

Loss of patronage and the constant depreciation of money taken in resulted in the lines finally being discontinued, leaving Sedalia with no public transportation other than taxicabs.

American Vets Leave Moscow to Fly Home

MOSCOW (AP)—Nine visiting American veterans of the 1945 U. S.-Soviet linkup at the Elbe left for home by plane today. They were laden with souvenirs and loud in their praise of Soviet hospitality.

The nine, who are stopping off in Paris en route to the United States, carried photograph albums recording their four-day visit to Moscow as guests of the Soviet government.

Says Public Against Defending Two Isles

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP)—Sen. Morse (D-Conn.) said in a speech last night the United States would not defend Quemoy and Matsu islands because public opinion is against it.

Reds Occupy All Viet Nam; Many Move

HAIPHONG, North Indochina (AP)—Hundreds of Vietnamese fled in sharply reawakened fear today as Communist Vietnamese troops marched in to occupy this big port, surrendered by the French after 92 years of colonial rule.

Vietminh army sound trucks, moving ahead of grim Red soldiers shouldering rifles with fixed bayonets, blared to the city's people a chilling order:

"Every person who collaborated with the French and Vietnamese forces must report immediately to the nearest police station."

News of the order, first heard in the northwest part of the city, spread quickly. Hundreds of Vietnamese streamed to the Haiphong docks in a last-minute rush to flee Red rule.

Most were Vietnamese who apparently had wavered on making their choice to flee or to try to live under Red rule.

The Vietminh order threatened imprisonment or death for thousands. If they did not denounce themselves, they could never know when others would.

Thousands of Vietnamese had worked and helped in dozens of ways while Haiphong was the wartime port of entry for mountains of U. S. war supplies sent to the French—before the fall of Dien Bien Phu and the surrender of North Viet Nam at the Geneva conference.

Some 8,000 French troops were massing on the Do Son Peninsula, southeast of the port. The last French foothold in North Indochina, it must be evacuated by Monday.

Withdrawal of these troops will complete the Vietminh occupation of all North Viet Nam. There had been cheers in Haiphong when the green-clad Vietminh troops started into the city.

But fear was in the faces of those who decided quickly to flee. Walking or pedaling bicycle carts, they lugged what they hastily scraped together—food baskets, clothing and household furniture.

They were leaving centuries-old homes and rice lands.

In the shift from French to Vietminh rule, Haiphong was under a strict French curfew to prevent looting.

News Flashes—

Offers Rigid Wheat Control

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson today proposed a rigid control program for the 1956 wheat crop. He set June 25 as the date for a grower referendum on it.

Release Polio Vaccine

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government today gave a go-ahead for communities having Parke Davis Co. vaccine to resume their polio vaccinations.

Cutter Lab Stops All Sales Of Polio Vaccine For Tests

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—If you were a manufacturer of polio vaccine and some of the 500,000 children inoculated with your product started coming down with infantile paralysis, what would you do?

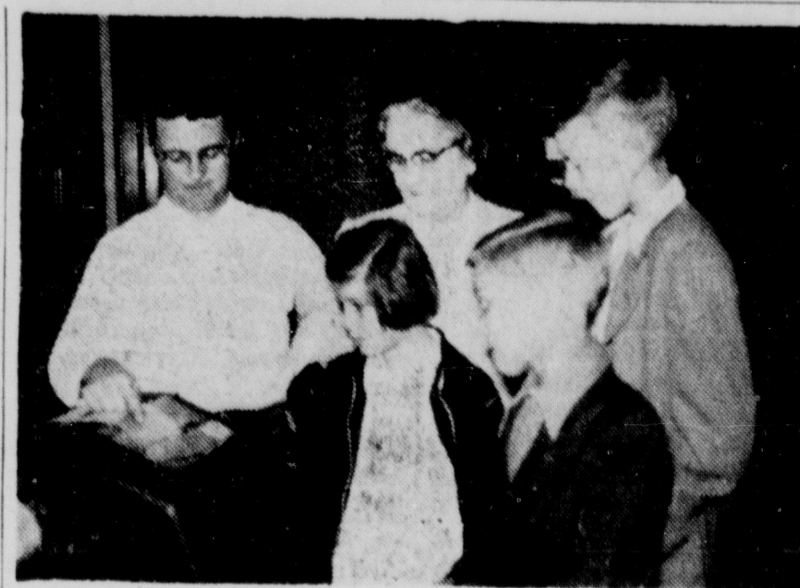

You probably would move fast. Just as Cutter Laboratories did, to prevent any further use of the material.

First, Cutter called the news services, then the radio and television stations, then the newspapers. Also the firm notified its distribution centers and sales offices across the country, asking them to call in all supplies and pass the word to all users.

All this was done, Cutter officials reported, within 38 minutes after receiving word from the U. S. Public Health Service temporarily withdrawing approval of the Cutter product.

There was no evidence then, and nothing conclusive even yet, that the Cutter vaccine was at fault, although a Public Health Service official at Hamilton, Mont., Dr. Carl Ecklund, reported evidence "pointing strongly to the Cutter vaccine as the cause" of polio cases among vaccinated children in Idaho.

The final verdict on the Cutter vaccine awaits reports from the National Institutes of Health, an arm of the Public Health Service,

Ward's Control Decided Today At Vote Count

CHICAGO (AP)—Louis E. Wolfson and the management of Montgomery Ward and Co. today reached a cards-on-the-table showdown.

Wolfson already has conceded that he can't win command of the huge firm this year. He expects two or three seats on the nine-man Board of Directors. But the showdown will disclose how much strength each side has among stockholders of the 721-million-dollar company.

The occasion was the second session of the annual Ward meeting. The big—and only—item on the agenda was the official announcement of the vote of the shareholders in the contest for control of the company.

The battle, waged for eight months, pitted the 43-year-old Wolfson against 81-year-old Sewell L. Avery.

Each side entered a full slate of nine candidates. Each share of stock is good for nine votes—one for each director's post—under the cumulative system.

Each side is allotted 24 hours after announcement of results to recalculate its votes—i. e., spread the votes to elect as many directors as possible.

Stockholders who marked their votes for specified candidates can change their preferences for individual candidates—but can't change sides—within the 24-hour period.

Heads of St. Louis Police Appear Before Circuit Grand Jury

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The heads of the St. Louis police were called before a Circuit Court grand jury yesterday to discuss the sharply rising crime rate here and steps the police department is taking to combat it.

The lightning also cut up a tree in the yard which had been blown over two weeks ago during the tornado.

Wagenknecht's Statement Read At His Trial

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—A statement made by Henry W. Wagenknecht on August 17, the day after his wife's body was found near their Bonner Springs, Kan., home was read at the trial today.

Wagenknecht, 47, is charged with murdering his wife. Mrs. Wagenknecht was beaten and choked while she lay in bed. Her body was dragged through a window and later found in a weed patch near the home.

Donald E. Martin, Wyandotte County attorney, read Wagenknecht's statement. Martin said the statement was made in his office about 5:25 a. m., the day after the slaying.

In the statement as read by Martin, Wagenknecht told how he discovered his wife missing after he had been watching a television program. The last time he saw his wife, the statement said, was at about 10:30 p. m. when he had gone into the kitchen near the bedroom.

At ten minutes before midnight, the statement said, Wagenknecht took a spoonful of plums that had been cooking in the kitchen and went to the bedroom door to have Mrs. Wagenknecht test them.

"When I went to the bedroom door I did not see my wife," Wagenknecht said in the statement.

Gen. Taylor Asleep At Time Nomination To Top Post Announced

TOKYO, Saturday (AP)—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor was still asleep early today when the announcement was released in Washington that President Eisenhower had nominated him Army chief of staff. But a spokesman said Taylor probably had known about the President's decision for several days.

He will spend the next few weeks preparing to turn over his U. N. and Far East command to Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer.

He said he believed the airplane would bring the world closer together "eliminating the petty hates and jealousies, which breed war."

Ike Names Gen. Taylor As Successor

Requests Retirement In Letter to Army Secretary Stevens

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, critical of administration decisions to cut back the ground forces, has asked to be retired June 30 and will be succeeded as Army chief of staff by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor.

Taylor, a 1922 graduate of West Point, is a native of Keytesville, Mo. He served a tour as deputy Army chief of staff in charge of operations prior to going to his present command. Another of his post-World War II duty tours was as superintendent of the Military Academy at West Point.

Ridgway's decision to leave on the day before the new military budget becomes effective was disclosed when President Eisenhower sent the Senate a nomination of Taylor to succeed him.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said Ridgway wrote a letter to Secretary of the Army Stevens asking for retirement on June 30. Ridgway's term had until Aug. 15 to run.

Taylor commanded the 8th Army in some of the bitterest fighting of the Korean War. He is now serving as commander in chief, Far East command, and commander in chief, United Nations command.

His appointment as chief of staff is for a term of two years.

Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer will take over Taylor's two commands in the Far East.

Lemnitzer is now commanding general of the Army forces in the Far East and the 8th Army.

Ridgway's two-year term as chief of staff would have expired next August.

He reached the mandatory Army retirement age of 60 last March 31, but the Army retained him on active duty with approval of President Eisenhower.

Ridgway will retire on leaving as chief of staff.

Ridgway has not seen eye to eye with the Eisenhower administration's decision to cut back Army manpower. Ridgway has contended repeatedly that atomic and other new weapons would require more, not fewer, ground forces because of a necessity for dispersal.

Eisenhower, at a news conference, once referred to a "parochial" view about retention of ground forces at current levels.

Eisenhower used the term "parochial" as meaning special or limited.

Taylor, 54, came out of World War II with a reputation as a man of derring-do.

Eisenhower wrote in his book, "Crusade in Europe," in reference to Taylor:

"The risks he ran were greater than I asked any other agent or emissary to undertake during the war."

Taylor went into Italy secretly ahead of the invasion by American forces to sound out Italian Marshal Badoglio on a quick surrender.

Later, when Taylor's 101st Airborne Division was cut off and surrounded at Bastogne, Belgium, Taylor was in Washington. He flew back to Europe and parachuted into the center of his division, knowing full well that either death or capture would be his fate if the Germans won the battle.

Mock Battle Is Fought At Lexington, But Rain Soaks Cannon Powder

LEXINGTON, Mo. (AP)—Civil War soldiers apparently were better adept at keeping their powder dry than their modern counterparts who re-enacted the 1861 Battle of Lexington yesterday.

Like the original engagement between 12,000 Confederate troops under Maj. Gen. Sterling Price and 3,000 Union soldiers under Col. James A. Mulligan, yesterday's mock battle was fought in the rain. But when it came time to fire two cannons, relics of the Civil War, there was silence. The powder got soaked.

Wolfson Gets Three Places On MW Board

CHICAGO (AP)—Louis E. Wolfson apparently landed three places on Montgomery Ward's nine-member board of directors, a tabulation of votes cast at the April 22 election showed today.

Wolfson received proxies for 1,793,398 shares of Ward stock. The Ward management slate received proxies for 4,033,481 shares.

This totals up to 5,826,879 shares. To obtain three directors Wolfson would need 30 per cent of the total vote cast plus three shares. That would be 1,748,067.

However, stockholders attending the annual meeting in person also cast votes for individual directors. These votes could conceivably provide a margin of difference between two and three seats on the board for Wolfson.

After the inspectors of the election announced the tally, Wolfson said he definitely had elected three directors. These would be himself; Alexander Pittmaster III, New York business consultant; and Bernice Fitz-Gibbon, New York advertising consultant.

A management spokesman said, "We know we have six directors but we can't say definitely if we have six or seven until the recalculation is completed."

By recalculation he meant the allotment of nine votes per share among nominees so as to elect the greatest number of nominees.

After the announcement the meeting adjourned until 10:40 a.m. tomorrow when the recalculation of votes will be announced and the full slate of elected directors will be made known.

Freak Radio Broadcast Causes Air Search 3,000 Miles Distant

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP)—It's about 3,000 miles from Bear Lake, Va., to Big Bear Lake, Calif., but a small plane radio transmitter spanned the distance and set off an emergency Air Force search.

March Air Force Base told the story here yesterday.

When Lawrence Harsh of Anandale, Va., crashed in the mountains of Virginia on May 5, his distress call was heard by a Los Angeles ham radio operator, Robert W. Wellett. "Two miles north of Big Bear Lake" meant only California to Wellett and his call brought out a fruitless search of the local mountains.

Meanwhile, Harsh is recovering from injuries in Virginia. Communications experts said an atmospheric freak caused the long transmission. The normal range of Harsh's radio sender is about 100 miles.

Will Discuss Modern Music At Library

"Modern Music" will be the subject of Albert Wuelfing's music appreciation session on Monday night at the Sedalia Public Library. This is the ninth in the series, which closes with the following lecture. The lecture course is sponsored by the Library and is open to the public. About 30 persons attended last Monday's meeting on "The Opera."

Wuelfing expects to play all or parts of the following recordings as illustrative material: Debussy's "La Mer," Bartok's Piano Concerto, Gershwin's "American in Paris," and the Prokofiev Classic Symphony. In speaking of his lecture for Monday evening, he said, "The trend of modern music appears to develop along the intellectual potential, which often sacrifices the melody and emotional appeal as well as pure harmony. The standards of excellence of older masters are extremely high and the genius of Richard Wagner appears to have pointed the way for modern orchestration. There is a great deal of fine modern music written today which has a definite place in the evolution of music, with its constant changes of taste and levels of appreciation."

Elizabeth Schoen, one of the graduates, will crown the statue of Mary and Jeanette Twenter will carry the crown.

Diplomas will be presented to Elizabeth Schoen, Patricia Wessing, Barbara Vollrath, Norbert Lorenz, Jerome Bader, Earl Day, Bernard Rentel, Larry Krumm, Luke Young and Kenneth Day.

No Time For Clowning Act...

It is surprising how apathetic the public can be over methods used by their legislative representatives in passing laws affecting the people.

But every now and then a legislator loses his sense of values pertaining to the seriousness of his job by indulging in a bit of clowning. When such antics affect vital legislation, public ire is aroused like a tornado appearing on the horizon.

Now take the case of the mysterious Mr. Tanner, a Kansas City Democrat, who has raised up a windstorm of protest because he left the halls of the state capitol in Jefferson City just to go on a trip to Wichita, Kansas, but forgot to tell where he left the main bill for the school program legislation.

In what is considered by some an effort to stifle the school aid program Representative Tanner, before vanishing, announced his committee would hear proponents of a sales tax increase bill on May 24 and opponents May 31, the day the legislature must adjourn by constitutional decree. This device is a legislative stiletto. Tanner favors income tax increase to finance the school program, but lost an amendment struggle previously.

At the moment it appears Tanner and his committee may establish a roadblock to House consideration of the school program.

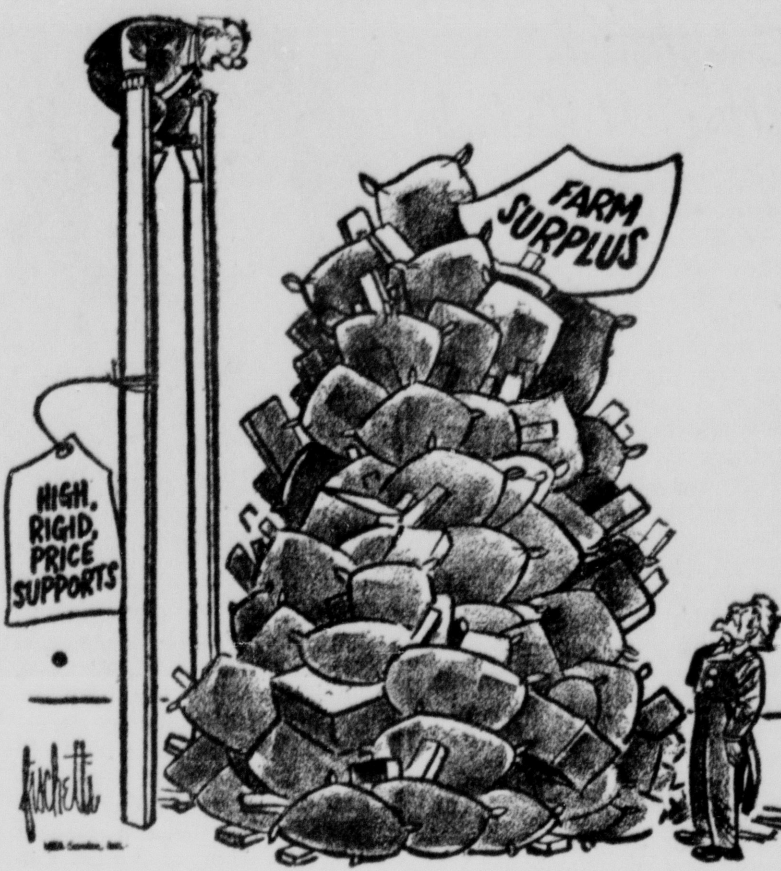

Tanner will show up, and so will the bill that seems to have been misplaced. None the less the prestidigitator act by the Kansas City Democrat befits the current spring circus season, albeit it may accomplish Tanner's petulant desire to have his way and the way of his cronies who seem to be leading him up a blind alley into a wall of public indignation if he becomes responsible for the collapse of the school financing program which affects 600,000 school children in the State of Missouri.

This incident precipitated by Representative Tanner ought to spotlight attention on the vital need for Missourians to be a bit more selective in choosing men who will recognize not only the seriousness of their legislative jobs and their responsibility to the people as a whole, but will also take themselves seriously.

Legislation affecting 600,000 school children should not be considered lightly.

Let's leave the clowning acts to the circus arenas, the prestidigitator to TV entertainment programs, but serious Missouri legislation to serious-minded legislators.

AEC Has Censored Scientist Without Federal Connection

By Joseph A. Dear
Democrat-Capitol
Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON — The Atomic Energy Commission censors articles written by scientists with no government connection.

For example, AEC has suppressed an article prepared by Dr. Ralph Lapp for the New York Times Magazine. In this story, Dr. Lapp speculated about the construction and composition of the hydrogen bomb.

Lapp based his deductions on data published in Japanese papers after the stupendous thermonuclear explosion in the Pacific in 1954. Radioactive particles created by the blast showered upon the Japanese fishing vessel, Fortunate Dragon, which was 80 miles from the explosion center. One crew member died and others were sickened by the radiation.

Japanese scientists analyzed the radioactive residue on the vessel when it reached port. This was the data on which Lapp's speculative article was based. He concluded that for a nation which already had the atomic bomb it would be a problem of sickening simplicity to also construct an H-bomb.

Lapp has no connection with the atomic program now, although he was associated with this enterprise during World War II. Apparently AEC felt his prior association lent too much authority to his present speculations.

Joseph S. Davis, latest addition to the President's Council of Economic Advisers, was in 1947 a trustee of the American Institute of Pacific Relations.

This outfit is in the Administration blacklist. It was regarded with brooding suspicion by the late Senator Pat McCarran (D-Nev.). Professor Owen Lattimore was one of its factotums. Both he and it were investigated at length by the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee.

But apparently association with IPR isn't considered as damaging for a Republican as for a Democrat. At any rate, Davis was nominated for the Council by President Eisenhower. And the Senate confirmed the nomination without a murmur of protest.

Authorities tell us that the problem of mental health is not only one of the most serious facing the nation, but one that has escaped the attention it deserves. A vigorous and coordinated program by the states and the federal government can substantially reduce the burden of caring for the mentally ill.

Treatment that utilizes existing knowledge to the fullest can return more people to productive, normal lives. That means states must appropriate more for qualified personnel. Workers in the field are overloaded, and that means some patients can't get the prompt treatment they should have.

More basic research in the field is essential. At present less than one per cent of state expenditures are earmarked for research. Yet additional dollars for research may lead to the discovery of new and better methods of treatment, and of new preventive measures. That would decrease the population of mental institutions.

More money spent in rehabilitation programs would reclaim many more patients. Last year 2,720 mentally ill were rehabilitated under the federally sponsored program.

The states, through their governors, and the federal government, are bearing down on this tremendous problem.

What They Say—

BEN MEEKS (Oregon County Representative) — Your representative, Mr. Milton Overstreet of Pettis County, is a member of the Social Security Committee, of which I am chairman. He has attended all meetings, and has been a great help to the committee by his favorable votes on the Social Welfare Law.

We have had many bills pertaining to aged persons of the State of Missouri. One, raising the assistance from $55.00 to $65, and another letting the aged live with a relative or friend without being penalized.

These bills passed the House without any opposition. They are now in the Senate committee. It does not look like the Senate is going to report them out favorably.

The Blind Pension bills, which were in our committee, have already been passed by the Senate and signed by the Governor. It raises them from $55 to $60 a month.

We amended the law of a five year limitation on the transferring of property, by giving the aged a three way plan: Reconveying property, or receiving value in other property, or penalizing at $50 a month until the cash transferred is used up. Example: The transferring of $1,000, would penalize the recipient by taking him off the pay roll for twenty months.

Several other bills were passed through our committee to help the aged of our great State of Missouri, in which Representative Overstreet voted favorably.

I take great pleasure in praising him to his people of Pettis County for his untiring efforts.

He was in the 13th Division during World War I. His car license number is 13. He is a former president of the District Wildlife Assn., which embraces 13 eastern Idaho counties. ## DEATH OF A LEGEND

By WILL HENRY

XXIX
THEY moved all of Friday night, hid away the daylight of Saturday on a tiny swampy isle. With dark they moved again, ploughing the night away through the calf-deep mire of the lowlands. Sunday there was another, interminable, fireless camp, so close to the hamlet of Marysburg they could hear the church bells tolling the sun down.

Shortly before 10 o'clock they blundered on an outlying hen-coop. They caught three of the chickens before the baying of the farmer's dog sent them back into the endless swamp. The fowl were torn bodily in half, devoured raw—the first food in 48 hours. Bob could not make it. Cole ate Bob's share on top of his own, forcing the slimy, raw flesh down, locking his jaw to keep it there. His strength had to be fed.

At 2 a. m., three miles north of Mankato, they reached an abandoned farmhouse. Human flesh could stand no more. They had been on the retreat four days and three nights, were still less than 50 miles from Northfield. But the last 36 of those had been covered in 15 hours, on foot, with no food other than the sickening flesh of three summer-molted Dominique hens. Stone wall Jackson would have been proud.

The torrential rains sluiced on. You can still hear about that rain in Northfield. Beginning on the night of the robbery, it fell steadily for 12 consecutive days. By the time Jesse and his men reached the Mankato farmhouse, every tributary stream in southern Minnesota was out of its banks. They were cut off at last, not by any cordon of human pursuers, but by an impassable posse of swollen creeks and flooded lowlands.

All day Monday, Monday night, and Tuesday until dusk, they stayed inside the house. Charlie Pitts and Frank James forayed out late Tuesday night, returned with five more chickens. This time a small fire was risked. Bob had to eat.

Cole tore out the living room partition with his bare hands, kindled the blaze in the center of the front parlor floor. The molding horseblanks were hung across the paneless windows, their owners sleeping uncovered on the pine floor. There was no dissent. By now the light of a fire meant more to the inner man than did the warmth of a wet blanket to the outer.

The last of the chicken was rationed out and recocked at dusk, Wednesday. The bones were cracked and marrow sucked to the wingtip, the shanks and scaly feet eaten to the tonenail. They awaited full night, strengthened by the food and the sheltered respite from the incessant rain.

After an hour, Jesse said he was "going out on a scout," and that "some action would be taken on his return." He then talked guardedly to Frank for five minutes, and left.

They waited his return with mixed feelings.

Frank had not said 10 words since leaving Northfield. Pitts and Jim Younger had been equally glum. Bob was still irrational with fever and none in the dreary room but knew he had traveled his last mile.

COLE, the indomitable, still stood head and shoulders the tallest of them all.

Since saying he would walk with Jesse, he had done just that. If a man stumbled in the dark, it was Cole who helped him up, who slapped his muddy buttocks and grinned him on. If a path was lost in the rain and Jesse hesitated in the lead, it was Cole who moved up beside him, pointing the way.

At length, Jesse returned. He said he had gone down to the farm where Frank and Charlie had got the chickens. He had had no trouble finding it from Frank's directions. Down there, he had stalked the farmer to the barn, meaning to take him from behind and force him to bring them up some food, and some bandages for Jim and Cole and Bob. But as he was about to move, a posse had ridden into the barnyard. The men were from Mankato. What they had to say stopped any idea of jumping the farmer. Jesse had been so close he had heard every word.

The German Lake surround had just closed in on the three tied horses they had left behind.

The word now was that Jesse and his men had walked out of the trap, had a long, four-day start, were undoubtedly safely on their way to Missouri by this time.

The Pinkertons and a few odd posers of die-hard local deputies were still on the lookout for them, but the big bulk of the more than 1000 men who had been in the field as of Sunday night had given up.

"Boys!" he concluded, eyes flicking savagely, "we've got one chance now. One chance!"

"What are you talking about, Dinges?" Cole asked quietly.

"You know what I'm talking about," Jesse said. "We can't make it totting Bob."

Cole let him finish it, trying to see his side of it, knowing, too, that the others must be thinking the same thing, or close to it.

"All right," he said at last. "You all go on. But I can't do it. I can't leave him here, bad hurt and by himself. You go along, that's only fair. Me and Jim will stick with Bob and bring him along as best we can. We'll try to stay with you, near as we can manage. But we ain't leaving him."

"You got to," rasped Jesse. "One way or the other. We can't have him tagging along no more."

"What do you mean, one way or the other?" Cole stood up slowly.

"Just what I said," snapped Jesse. "He stays right here. Dead or alive."

Soviet Begins to Worry Over Immorality

All of a sudden the Soviet press has begun to worry about the "immorality" of Soviet citizens. The official party line, which used to make fun of "bourgeois morality," is now talking about the sanctity of family life and, in general, pleading for adult Communists to develop a sense of moral obligation in their human relationships.

Communism is a doctrine which says that there is nothing wrong with lying and cheating, with resort to force, aggression and even murder, so long as the Communist gets what he wants. The something a good Communist is supposed to want first and foremost is the satisfaction of economic wants — more money, more clothes, more heavy industry, more land, more power, and so forth. So what if one is a Communist, and lives in a state which says that any means can justify the end of achieving economic goals, such as an extra wife? It may seem funny, but it is certainly not surprising, to hear that the Communists are having lots of trouble with bigamy and illegitimacy in the Soviet Union nowadays.

Where individuals lack respect for truth, loyalty, and trustworthiness, the government suffers as much as the family. A man who will double-cross his wife may also double-cross the "party." If the Communists want to develop old-fashioned morality in Soviet Russia, they will have to begin by greatly revising their own Communist teachings. An immoral government, based on an immoral doctrine of greed and deceit, is not likely to inspire its peoples with moral values. It is most interesting, however, and not a little amusing, to learn from the Soviet press that the present Communist government is trying to do just that!

The Washington Merry-Go-Round—

Rush Program Hampered Vaccine Tests

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Here are two backstage facts regarding the manufacture of Salk vaccine which the public should be informed about and which may help explain some of the current unfortunate uncertainty.

1. The Cutter Laboratories of Berkeley, Calif., were prosecuted and found guilty in June, 1949, of inadequate sterilization in connection with glucose water and salt water preparations. They were fined $600. This is the same company whose vaccine was removed from use after 38 children contracted polio while taking the shots in California.

2. The public health service which is testing and licensing the vaccine, has not had time to test it, but has accepted the written reports of the drug companies.

In the earlier use of the drug last year, every batch was carefully tested both by Dr. Salk and the manufacturer. But this year, in the interest of making the vaccine available in time for the polio season and before the schools close, the public health service has required each drug company to send in samples plus a written statement or "protocol" of the work done on the vaccine, but has made no test.

Monkey Tests

Ordinarily, each batch of vaccine is tested by being injected into the brains of 12 healthy monkeys and into the muscle tissue of six other monkeys. The monkeys are then killed and their spinal cords examined. If no live virus is present, the vaccine is pronounced safe. However, this test requires about 30 days. And the public health service, anxious to make the vaccine available to the public as soon as possible, has accepted the manufacturers' tests.

The Cutter Laboratories whose vaccine is now under special scrutiny not only was found guilty of inadequate sterilization in 1949 but has been the object of nine other civil suits or "seizures" by the food and drug administration.

Other drug companies, with the exception of Parke-Davis, have not experienced so many seizures. Parke-Davis has also had nine civil suits, Eli Lilly two, Pitman-Moore two, Wyatt three, Sharp and Dohme four.

On the other hand, and in fairness to the Cutter Laboratories, it should be noted that Sterling-Winthrop, one of the biggest drug companies — although it's not making the Salk vaccine — was once fined $16,000 for getting sleeping pills mixed up with a potent drug used to abate fever.

Drug Inspection Suffers

Behind this entire question of testing and inspecting drugs is a situation frequently reported by this column in the past—namely, the stragglery of the Food and Drug Administration and the Public Health Service by both certain congressmen and the Eisenhower Administration.

Without inspectors, it is impossible for the Food and Drug Administration adequately to inspect drug concerns or food factories. As pointed out in this column on July 26 last year, food and drug appropriations have been cut so low that inspectors are able to inspect chicken-processing plants only once every 12 years.

The Public Health Service, if it had the funds to send inspectors to various drug companies, would be able to check the test off Salk vaccine on the spot. In other words, an inspector could have been present when the drug companies were making their own tests, thus could have saved an additional 30 days. But the Public Health Service has been fighting a desperate battle against Republican critics who called it part of the "welfare state."

Mrs. Hobby herself, head of the Health, Education and Welfare Department, even wrote a letter to Congress in 1953 asking that additional funds not be voted to the Public Health Service for Cancer Research, Polio, Muscular Dystrophy, Heart Disease, and other research. Democratic congressional leaders overrode her protest and voted the research funds anyway.

The Food and Drug Administration, also under Mrs. Hobby, has likewise suffered at the hands of two Republican congressmen, John Taber of New York and Fred Busbey of Illinois.

Congressman Taber is irked at Food and Drug because a constituent who invented a beet-peeling machine by which large, coarse beets could be cut down so they looked like small, tender beets, brought his machine to the Food and Drug Administration to get its approval. Its officials frowned on the machine as deceptive, though they never actually banned it.

Whereupon Congressman Taber, then chairman of the powerful House appropriations committee, slashed Food and Drug funds. That was two years ago. This year he again made a speech in the secret appropriation hearings about the Food and Drug's attitude toward his beet-machine constituent. And again he attempted to slash its funds. This time Democratic Congressman John Fogarty of Rhode Island was chairman of the subcommittee and a good part of the funds was restored.

Mountain Valley Politics

Last year, Congressman Busbey also got sore because Pure Food and Drug had declared that Mountain Valley Water of Hot Springs, Ark., was not medicinal and not a treatment for gallstones, stomach ulcers, and pregnancy disorders.

However, Mrs. Phyllis Schlafly of Alton, Ill., whose family owns Mountain Valley Water, is the Republican state central committee woman for Illinois' 24th district. She is a good friend of Congressman Busbey, the Illinois Republican.

And Busbey, who sat on the House appropriations committee last year, managed to knock $100,000 off the already meagre appropriation of the Food and Drug Administration, thus making it all the more difficult for it to protect the public against doctored food and imperfect drugs.

The Public Health Service is charged, under the virus, serum, and toxin act, with the inspection of Salk polio vaccine. The Food and Drug Administration inspects all other drugs. Both agencies are under the direction of Secretary Hobby.

Mrs. Hobby, though supposed to promote health and education, has shown a strange, negative reluctance toward both. Not only did she oppose medical research, as previously reported, but in 1953 she took a strong stand against hospital construction under the Hill-Burton Act, opposed vocational education and rehabilitation, and tried to cut the school-construction program in congested military and federal areas by $100,000,000.

In every case, Democratic leaders, opposing these cuts, took the issue to the floors of the House and Senate and won. This year, with the exception of the general school-construction program, Mrs. Hobby has fallen much more in line with the views of Congress and has not tried to cut the health and education budgets.

Orvel Edward Kern, 30, who gave his home as Route 4, Syracuse, Mo., and also Waterloo, Ia., has been charged with tampering with a motor vehicle.

Kern was arrested Tuesday night in the 600 block on West Main, where he was seen around a 1949 Mercury sedan of the Jenkins-Greer Motor Co. which had been pushed from the used car lot of that firm. He was picked up by State Trooper Pete Stohr after he had run from the place and was followed by Earl Holstein of the State Health Dept. Stohr apprehended Kern on Second Street when Kern eluded Holstein.

He is held in the county jail awaiting a preliminary hearing set for Monday, May 23.

William Wescott, 24, who gave his home as Independence, Ia., has been charged in Magistrate Court with forgery of checks written on the Third National Bank and with the name of Leon Swope signed to them.

Wescott was arrested at Marshall by police there after he had hired a City Cab to drive from Sedalia to that city. He was returned here by Sheriff John F. Taylor's deputies, George Brown and Ed George.

Wescott escaped from the Pettis County jail several years ago and later it was learned he had been apprehended by the federal government and was in the federal prison at El Reno, Okla. Still later he was given a conditional release from the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., earlier this year, according to Prosecuting Attorney Harold Barick.

Barick stated Wescott was held in the Pettis County jail at the time of his escape on a charge of passing bad checks east of Sedalia. He had these charges dismissed when informed Wescott was in the hands of the federal authorities and in the prison at El Reno.

Gerald Jerry Joe Adams, 22, who said his home is Davenport, Ia., picked up in connection with Wescott here in Sedalia by local police, was later released after he was investigated and his stories checked out through the authorities in Iowa, and local law enforcement agencies.

Robert Hunsaker, Sedalia, who was also picked up, was later released by the authorities after it was learned he had no connection with the forgery.

Wescott is alleged to have passed one check to Jim Kochoff, Phillips 66 Service station, highway 50 east of Sedalia. He indicated to Prosecuting Attorney Barick he passed several others, Barick said.

Catholic Church May Be Subject To Property Tax

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—A bill to tax property of the Roman Catholic Church was before the Argentine Senate today. Considered certain of approval, it was the latest move by President Juan Peron in his six-month fight with the church.

The introduction of the bill yesterday coincided with the resignation of a Peronista party member from the Chamber of Deputies in protest against the government's anticatholic campaign.

Argentine churches are traditionally exempt from taxation. Most private Catholic schools also pay no taxes because they give free education to poor children. Private schools that charge tuition pay real estate taxes ranging from 1-3 to 2-3 of the normal taxes.

The bill to end the exemption was introduced only a day after the Senate approved a measure abolishing Catholic religious education in the public schools. Congress also is considering a Peronista plan to abolish Roman Catholicism's position as the state church. Peron's supporters hold all the Senate seats and all but a handful of those in the lower chamber.

The church-state fight came out into the open last November when Peron accused some clergymen of seeking to undermine his regime. Thirty-three Catholic priests were arrested since then on various charges.

The deputy who resigned was Roberto Adolfo Carena, a representative from Cordoba province. In his letter of resignation, Carena said his religious convictions would not permit him to serve any longer as a representative of the Peronista party.

In a session last night, the chamber voted to expel Carena for "lack of faith, loyalty and solidarity" rather than accept his resignation.

Sunday School Lesson Notes

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.
The Book of Chronicles (Chapter 25) says of Amaziah, King of Judah (the Southern Kingdom), that he did that which was right in the eyes of Jehovah, but "not with a perfect heart."

That is a very discerning distinction. A perfect heart means much more than an outwardly correct life; Amaziah typified the strength and weakness, the good and evil, in the times and in the kings of the time.

Amaziah came to the throne upon the brutal assassination of his father. It was to his credit that he refrained from ruthless revenge, but his imperfection of heart soon became manifest. In his lack of both integrity and wisdom, in the conspiracy that drove him into flight following the collapse of the kingdom; with his death, also by the hands of assassins.

The long reign of Uzziah, Amaziah's son, marked a remarkable recovery from disaster. Uzziah was a builder, organizer, and conqueror, and the story of the mode and method of his military exploits is interesting. But, here again, what might have been glorious ends in moral collapse, and in Uzziah's death as a leper.

The fact is that Chapters 25 and 26 of II Chronicles make painful reading, with the story not only of moral downfall, but also with the terror of assassinations and slaughter, not only of kings but of thousands of people, cruelly done to death.

A friend once criticized the Old Testament because of this record of cruelty, ruthlessness, and bloodshed. I reminded him that it is not so different from the history of Kings and courts in many lands and times. The tragedies of ancient Israel pales in comparison with the cruelties and slaughters of our own times, in which the Jews have been the chief and almost innumerable victims.

If we could profit from these ancient records with a revulsion that would purge us from the horrors of today, the Old Testament might be the book of warning and guidance that it ought to be.

One ought to read all that is grim in the light of all that is glorious.

In contrast with the tragedies are the "great ideas of the Bible," and to me it is a pleasure to turn to them from such chapters as those in Chronicles. Some time ago I commended in this column a book under that title, "Great Ideas of the Bible," by Ryllis Goslin Lynip. A second volume has now been published by Harper & Brothers, of New York. It continues the excellence of the first.

Mrs. Lynip writes for "moderns." She approaches the Bible with scholarship, freedom, and enlightenment; she brings out with great clarity the Bible's great teachings. She reveals what the Bible ought to be for everyone who reads it.

Another recent book that helps to answer many questions is Bernard W. Anderson's "Rediscovering the Bible." Dr. Anderson is professor of Old Testament interpretation at Colgate-Rochester Divinity School. The book is published by the Association press, 291 Broadway, New York.

Dr. Hobbs to Speak On Church's Mission

Dr. Elmer L. Hobbs, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will use as his sermon subject Sunday morning, "The World Mission of the Church." The Chancel Choir will sing the anthem "Come Ye Disconsolate" by James with Lee H. Peabody and Raymond E. Marks taking the solo parts.

The officers of the Woman's Society of Christian Service and the Wesleyan Service Guild will be installed.

Chiefs Seek Good Weather For BJ Game

Meet Columbia BJ— Team Here Sunday Night

The Sedalia Chiefs are sleeping tonight with one eye open and again Saturday night, wondering what the weather condition will be for their scheduled opening game for Sunday night. Rain has the Liberty Park baseball diamond turned into everything but a place to play ball at the moment.

Weather conditions will have much to do with whether or not the game will be played with the Columbia Ban Johnson team of the Central Missouri League. If it does not rain any more tonight or Saturday there is better than a 90 per cent chance the game will go on as scheduled.

Manager W. L. "Red" Hayden of the Chiefs is anxious for the game to be played and get the boys to rolling in the League competition. He is hoping the team can be playing its regular scheduled without having to be looking forward to play-offs of postponed games right off the start.

Three Sedalia leaders of the 1954 season are back in the fold Manager Hayden announced. They are Bobby Case, shortstop who clubbed at a .350 pace while he was closely followed by Buck Bennett with .338, and also led the loop in RBIs. Bill Arnold hurler of the Chiefs last year is back with a record to be equalled. In 1954 he had a record of five victories against no losses, the best slab record of the circuit.

Troubles are on hand for Hayden who hasn't fully decided on all positions and has several players to look over before closing out on the team membership. "Anything can happen," Hayden said, "and we have prospects which may develop into outstanding players and I am not letting anybody get away until we can see just how they are all going to work out." Hayden concluded.

According to Ban Johnson officials the Chiefs are one of the teams to be beaten to win the title for '55, while Hayden is hoping his team lives up to the reputation as "The Team" to beat. "We'll win the pennant this year," said Walter Jessee, vice president of the league.

Marty Marion, manager of the Chicago White Sox, played 1,502 games at shortstop for the St. Louis Cardinals.

The major league record of 23 "grand slam" homers was set by the late Lou Gehrig of the Yankees in 23 big league seasons of play.

Raschi Allows Seven Hits In Two Innings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Vic Raschi, released by the St. Louis Cardinals soon after the season started, doesn't look like he's ready for a comeback yet with the Kansas City Athletics.

He was sent for cover in the second inning yesterday at Boston with seven runs against him and the Red Sox went on to take a 12-7 decision from the A's.

Gus Zernial and Bill Renna produced all the Kansas City runs. Zernial, leading the American League in home runs and tied for first in RBIs, hit his 9th and 10th homers of the year—each with a man on base—to boost his RBI total to 27.

Renna slammed his fourth homer, a three-run blast.

Three hits and a double steal made it 2-0 Boston in the first. A three-run homer by Gene Stephens followed by a two-run blast by Jackie Jensen finished Raschi.

Zernial's clout in the third made it 7-2. A single by Sammy White drove in two runs in the fourth to maintain the Red Sox seven-run advantage which Big Gus again shaved with his second four-bagger in the fifth frame.

In their half of the fifth Boston added three tallies to clinch the game for pitcher Ike Delock, although Delock gave way for reliever Tom Hurd after Renna's seventh-inning homer.

Boston's 15 hits included five doubles and it was their first victory over their former pilot, Lou Boudreau, now the A's manager. The Cardinal-New York Giant game in St. Louis was postponed by rain.

West Coast Relays Set To Have Nearly 1,400 Athletes In Contests

FRESNO, Calif. (AP)—Hot weather and an expertly conditioned Ratcliffe Stadium Arena are in prospect for nearly 1,400 athletes tomorrow in the 29th West Coast Relays.

World, olympic, Pan American and National record holders—an assortment that adds up to 23 champions—will enjoy perfect competitive conditions in their efforts to break records. The spotlight is likely to be stolen by a long-legged miler and an eager ironman.

The big show for most will be Wes Santee's try for the 4-minute mile. Santee, who has come within a second of the goal three times, will have an unscarred track and strong competition from Art Dalzell, his ex-teammate at Kansas; Len Simpson of the San Francisco Olympic Club; Jim Hunt of San Diego State and Gene Jones of the Santa Clara County Youth Center. The ironman is Rafer Johnson of UCLA, who next year will bid for the world decathlon championship.

Harris Now Optimistic About Tigers' Hurlers

NEW YORK (AP)—Manager Bucky Harris admitted today he was "just as surprised as is everybody else" over the spectacular pitching performances turned in by the Detroit Tigers' staff this season.

"Pitching was the Tigers' biggest question mark, according to the evaluation. So what happened?"

In Detroit's first 26 games, no fewer than 17 route-going performances have been turned in by Detroit pitchers. No other club even comes close.

Harris said, "except for Steve Gromek (5-1) and Ned Garver (3-4), who are the mainstays of the staff, it is a young pitching staff. Kids like Billy Hoelt, Frank Lary, Duke Maas and Bob Miller are bound to get better."

Sports Roundup—California's Boxing Rules May Have Given State Bout

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK (AP)—There never has been much mystery attached to the choice of Don Cockell, the round Briton, as the fighter most deserving of a title fight with Rocky Marciano on Monday night.

Al Weill, the champ's manager, simply wished to do his share in cementing relations between the two great English-speaking nations. Not until now, however, have we seen an adequate explanation of the reason for gifting the great state of California with its first heavyweight championship that amounts to anything since the gaslit era. It seems there are rules in them thar hills that were only waiting to be dug up by a smart operator who can read, as Weill undoubtedly can.

We do not have a copy of California commission's official booklet at hand, but a man who has waded through the volume claims there's a rule or two in there which might well have been written with Rocky's tender nose in mind.

One of Weill's problems, it will be recalled, was to appoint a worthy challenger who did not figure to be around long enough to reopen the gash which Ezzard Charles put in Rocky's bugle in the latter's most recent title defense here last summer. Only a hairline scar remains, but nobody can say for certain that it will not start gushing again the first time it is hit squarely.

Cockell, who had proved many times he could be hit by anybody, including Freddie Mills, was considered a logical challenger.

Now we'll tell you what this man claims the California code provides in its section under butts and cuts and blood flowing freely. If (he says) the referee is forced to stop a bout in the very first round because of a cut, the fight automatically is ruled a draw. It makes no difference which man is bleeding. In the event of a draw, the champion would, of course, retain his bauble.

In succeeding rounds, there is a difference. If the man who is letting the blood is ahead on points when the referee steps in, he is the winner. If the wounded warrior is behind on the official score cards, he is the loser by a knockout. In short, a boxer isn't necessarily whipped just because he is too outup, in the ref's opinion, to remain on public display, as is the case elsewhere.

Tommy Bolt of Houston, Tex. Johnny Palmer of Charlotte, N. C. and Jack Fleck of Davenport, Iowa also were in a good position with their 69 going in today's second round.

Says Paper Napkin, Bare-Tabletop Habits Responsible for Illness

LOS ANGELES — The only guy who dared to mention paper napkins at the convention of the Linen Supply Assn. was a past president, M. A. Struminger, of Pittsburgh, Pa., and he tied them to hypertension, stomach disorder and general ill health.

"Lunch is the forgotten meal," Struminger told the delegates yesterday. "The present penchant for accelerated living goes hand in hand with the bare-tabletop and paper-napkin habits of American eating, which helped to account for the growing incidence of working hours lost through illness."

Husband Gets the Bird, Hopes to Regain Wife

LONG BEACH, Calif. — A Navy shipyard worker got the bird and his wife seeks a divorce, but neither is exactly happy.

George Michael wanted the bird, Pretty Boy, a parakeet, but he says he also wants his wife, Betty Jo, who accused him of mental cruelty.

"I figure that if I can keep the bird she'll come back to me," he told Superior Judge Joe Rayercraft yesterday. "She loves that bird."

"I love Pretty Boy, but if I went back to George for the sake of the bird, it wouldn't be saying much for me," his wife replied.

Mrs. Michael was granted visitation rights at the predivorce hearing.

Premier Scelba Tries To Clear Up Strife In Italian Cabinet

ROME — Premier Mario Scelba set about clearing up strife in his party today to save his 15-month-old government.

His stay in office was continued last night when the new Italian President, left-inclined Giovanni Gronchi, rejected his resignation. By custom, premiers always submit a resignation to a new president.

Gronchi's election April 29 rocked Scelba and his center coalition government. Although the new President is a member of the Premier's Christian Democratic party, he advocates bringing more leftists into the government. Scelba had backed another candidate.

Scelba's retention of the premiership was assured by statements of continued support Wednesday from the two minority parties in his coalition, Vice Premier Giuseppe Saragat's Right-Wing Socialists and the Liberals.

Rain Moves Eastward; Southeast Summerlike

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The rain belt which extended over the south central part of the country for several days moved eastward across the Ohio Valley and into the Middle Atlantic states today.

There were showers in parts of Missouri, southern Iowa and eastward across southern and central Illinois. Scattered showers also were reported in parts of Georgia and Alabama and extreme southern Texas.

Summerlike weather continued in most of the Southeast after yesterday's second day of temperatures in the 90s and near 100 in parts of Florida.

Temperatures in the 60s were reported early today south of a line from Washington, D.C., to the Kansas-Oklahoma border. They tapered off to the north to some 30s in northern New England.

Pre-Showtime Dinner Nearly Upsets Agenda

BOSTON — Just before the television show went on, one of the actors ate another actor.

Four types of reptiles were gathered for a weekly nature show, Discovery over WGBH-TV, Boston's educational television station.

Shortly before showtime yesterday a lizard, known as the "educated glass snake," ate a chameleon.

A member of the station staff rushed to Boston Garden, where Ringling Bros. Barnum and Bailey Circus is playing, and purchased another.

The show went on.

Boy Survives Stings Of 250 Angry Bees

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. — It was a bad case of the hive for little Jackie Robles, but the 3-year-old boy survived 250 irate bees and is expected to leave the hospital today.

While visiting his beekeeping uncle, Jackie accidentally knocked over a hive. The insects swarmed all over him before his sister Josephine, 9, washed them off with a garden hose.

Doctors said they pulled 250 stingers from Jackie's hands, ears, nose, even his tongue.

"Only a strong constitution pulled him through," one physician said.

Newsman Dies Of Injuries In Singapore Riot

SINGAPORE — American newsman Gene Symonds, of Dayton, Ohio, died today of injuries sustained in a continuing wave of rioting touched off by demonstrations supporting a bus strike. Two other persons were killed and at least 36 injured in the violence, which began yesterday.

Symonds, 29, United Press manager for Southeast Asia, died in a hospital this morning, 15 hours after he suffered head injuries. Hospital officials said he never regained consciousness.

Free violence flared today in the wake of the rioting by 3,000 striking busmen and their supporters that raged throughout yesterday and last night.

Police checked the initial outbreak by firing on the mob with steno guns and tear gas grenades, but British officers said last night the demonstrators still controlled an area a mile square in one of Singapore's western suburbs.

David Marshall, chief minister in this British colony's new labor front government, said in a broadcast last night that the violence "closely conforms to the Communist technique in seeking to foment industrial unrest."

The rioting broke out when about 1,000 Chinese students joined in a demonstration supporting a strike by 300 employees of the Chinese-owned Hock Lee Amalgamated Bus Co. protesting the dismissal of four drivers.

The mob tore a Chinese volunteer policeman from a truck yesterday and beat and kicked him to death. A Chinese student was killed when police fired on the demonstrators. At least 18 policemen were injured.

The Labor party lost control of councils in a number of big cities, including Llanddow, Bolton, Northampton, Morley, York, Reading, Ipswich, Dudley and Walsall.

Black Polish Fails To Hide Stolen Auto

MINOT, N.D. — The color wasn't the same but police spotted a stolen car anyway.

Cut Bank, Mont., officials had reported a bright red car stolen. Police here saw a coppery black car that otherwise matched the description.

They arrested the two occupants Willard S. Searle, 41, Missoula, Mont., and Loren Masterson, 46, Wolf Point, Mont., after discovering the car's red paint had been covered with black shoe polish. The two were charged with driving a stolen car across state lines.

Dog Starts Second Fire, Shack Topples

EASTHAMPTON, Mass. — Wilfred Robare has a shack near the town dump where he stores salvage metal. Yesterday his dog brought a piece of meat from the dump to the shack. The meat was wrapped in smoldering paper. It set fire to grass near the shack and the blaze spread to the small structure.

The dog recently set another grass fire in a similar manner but Robare put that one out before it reached the shack.

Fire Destroys Two Lumberyards and 3 Brooklyn Buildings

NEW YORK — Fire destroyed two lumberyards and three buildings last night and the flames threatened the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn.

A fire official estimated damage at two million dollars.

Four hundred firemen and 70 pieces of apparatus raced to the scene. Eighteen firefighters were injured, none seriously.

The fire started when a sawdust blower exploded in a one-story frame planing and moulding plant adjoining one lumberyard. Two employees fled to safety.

Flames engulfed another lumberyard, and a bolt and screw factory on the same block also was destroyed. A paint store across the street from one yard suddenly burst into flames.

Claims GOP Senators, Not Demos, Wage Cold War With White House

WASHINGTON — Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said today "leading Republican senators" and not Democrats are waging the cold war of politics with the White House which President Eisenhower once forecast.

Johnson recalled Eisenhower's campaign statement before last fall's elections that a "cold war of partisan politics" would break out between the White House and Congress if the Democrats won control of Congress, as they did.

After the election, Eisenhower told a news conference the words

Chinese Reds Convinced World Peace Can Be Preserved; Make Declarations At Red Defense Meet

House Passes Money Bill For Military

Proposal Calls For $31½ Billions; Bill Goes To Senate

WASHINGTON, May 12—(AP)—The House tonight passed a $31,488,206,000 military appropriation bill after upholding President Eisenhower's plans to reduce armed service strength.

As the measure went to the Senate it provided for a cut of 107,300 in the Army, Navy and Marine Corps during the 12 months starting July 1. The Air Force would be increased by 5,000, from 970,000 to 975,000, during the same period, leaving the over-all reduction at 102,300.

With money left over from previous appropriations, the new bill would give the Defense Department $43,081,000,000 for the coming fiscal year.

Amendments designed to prevent the manpower cuts were shouted down in a rapid series of voice votes.

Eisenhower's military program calls for a total armed force of 2,859,000 by June 30, 1956, compared with 2,961,300 this June 30.

The Army would take the brunt of this cut—87,000 men.

The unsuccessful fight to block the Army-Navy-Marine Corps cuts was led by Rep. Flood (D-Pa.) who said he was not a saboteur but believed in the Theodore Roosevelt dictum: "Let's tread softly and carry a big stick."

Flood said the administration's main argument for cutting the armed forces was to get a balanced budget, and he added:

"That's a sham, you know the budget won't be balanced."

Flood picked up some Democratic supporters, including Reps. Andrews of Alabama and Price of Illinois, but he was outnumbered by members of both parties.

Rep. Cannon (D-Mo.), chairman of the Appropriations Committee, told the House the next war would be decided in three or four days—"at most a week"—and he said the Army and Navy would not have time to get into full action.

"What could we do with three or four more divisions?" he asked. "We wouldn't possibly use them."

Cannon said the administration program emphasizes air power, with swift and massive retaliation against an aggressor, as well as a strong reserve force.

Rep. Taber of New York, top Republican on the Appropriations Committee, said the bill followed Eisenhower's recommendations and urged the House not to "run out on the greatest military leader in the world."

The amendments offered by Flood and Andrews would have kept the Army at its projected June 30, 1955, level of 1,114,000 the Navy at 672,000 and the Marines at 215,000.

Walch Wins Honors In Membership Drive For Travelers Group

Harry W. Walch, 711 West Broadway, newly elected president of Post "F", Travelers Protective Association of America, Sedalia, won top honors nationally in the month of April for new memberships in the association. ## Publishers, Ad Groups Named In Suit

Govt. Charges Agencies Violate Anti-Trust Laws

NEW YORK, May 12—(AP)—Six publishing and advertising groups were named today in a civil anti-trust suit, charged with illegally channeling national advertising through about 1,000 agencies.

At stake is a time-honored custom whereby agencies handle millions of dollars worth of advertising each year for the nation's publishers, retaining for themselves a fixed 15 per cent commission.

The government called this "unreasonable restraint" of trade and demanded that publishers be given the right to shop around for an agency with a commission that best suits them.

The defendants have known for weeks that the federal charge was in the offing. It was filed today in Federal District Court in Manhattan. The complaint covers a 38-year period.

Defendants are the American Assn. of Advertising Agencies, American Newspaper Publishers Assn., Publishers Assn. of New York City, Associated Business Publications, Inc., Periodical Publishers Assn. of America, and Agricultural Publishers Assn.

Complaint From ANPA Earlier this week, ANPA President Richard W. Slocum complained that the Department of Justice had refused to discuss issues in the suit unless the association pleaded guilty in advance and agreed to a consent decree.

However, Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell, Jr., replied last night: "If, in spite of the filing of the suit, ANPA and the others want to discuss the case, we will be glad to do it."

Slocum, in turn, declared: "The Department of Justice should and still can, if it will, talk this situation over on its full merits with the ANPA. ANPA will gladly go into the matter on such basis, prepared to make any necessary changes."

Might Release Vaccine

Signal May Be Given Today For Limited Resumption Of Inoculations

WASHINGTON, May 12—(AP)—Spokesmen for the U. S. Public Health Service indicated today that—if all goes well—the signal may be given tomorrow for limited resumption of inoculations with the Salk polio vaccine.

They said they expected to hear within hours from a scientific team re-testing vaccine made by Parke, Davis & Co., Detroit.

If the report from Detroit is favorable and if Public Health officials here concur, they added, there is likely to be quick action to release batches of the Parke-Davis product previously approved and now in the hands of doctors.

Double Checks On Vaccine At the beginning of the week the Public Health Service urged states to suspend their inoculation programs until federal officials had rechecked the safeguards being used by drug firms producing the serum.

These doublechecks began at Parke-Davis yesterday and will be extended to the other pharmaceutical houses.

The Public Health spokesmen, who declined use of their names, said it would be unduly optimistic to expect release of any Parke-Davis lots tonight. They also said there probably would not be any official announcement on the situation tonight.

Sentiment grew in Congress today to give the President broad discretionary powers to control the distribution and price of Salk polio vaccine.

Many members of Congress want to clamp on immediate controls to make sure the limited supply will go to children who need it most and at a fair price. The administration is reluctant to impose controls unless they are absolutely necessary.

More than five million school children have been inoculated with the Salk vaccine since it was pronounced a safe immunizing agent last month. According to the latest figures of the Public Health Service, 64 of the children have come down with polio since being vaccinated.

The development of these cases apparently was a major factor in the decision to go back and check over manufacturing methods employed by the six companies licensed to turn out the serum.

Reiterate Faith In Vaccine But both President Eisenhower and Surgeon Gen. Leonard Scheele, chief of the Public Health Service, have reiterated their faith in the vaccine and described the suspension of inoculations as just an extra measure of caution.

The House Banking Committee adjourned until tomorrow without acting on a resolution by Rep. Multer (D-NY) designed to compel Secretary of Welfare Hobby to answer questions about the immunization campaign. Mrs. Hobby declined an invitation to appear yesterday. As a Cabinet officer, she cannot be subpoenaed, legislators said, but Multer would have the House ask Eisenhower to direct her to testify.

Seek Money For Pomme de Terre—

Urge Congress Appropriation For Work On Tuttle Creek

WASHINGTON, May 12—(AP)—Kansas and Missouri groups asked Congress today for money to resume work on Tuttle Creek. They also asked money to start the Pomme de Terre project in Missouri and appropriations for planning of Pomona and local protection work in Kansas.

The requests were made to the House appropriations subcommittee considering flood control projects.

OK Pomme De Terre Project Ralph Duffy, representing Gov. Phil Donnelly of Missouri, said the Pomme de Terre project has been authorized and the state would benefit to have construction start now. Work would be provided for drought sufferers and unemployed, he told the committee.

In reply to a question, he said he approved of Congress providing money to resume construction of the controversial Tuttle Creek project on the Blue River.

William M. Huston, executive vice president of the Missouri Arkansas Basins Flood Control Assn., said there is almost no opposition to the Pomme de Terre project, but the budget bureau has not recommended any money.

With continued drought in the area, the people there are interested in seeing construction started at once, he added.

Asks Money For Toronto Dam Huston also asked money for Tuttle Creek and Toronto dams in Kansas, planning funds for Abilene, Salina and Topeka local protection work and for Strawn and Council Grove dams, all in Kansas.

H. G. Day, Hermitage, Mo., filed a statement from the Springfield, Mo., Chamber of Commerce supporting the Pomme de Terre project.

Rep. Moulder (D-Mo.) told the committee benefits of the project exceed its cost and loss of life and property damage for floods justifies its construction.

He also spoke in behalf of appropriations for Tuttle Creek.

Lamar Phillips and George Lister of Ottawa, Kan., asked an appropriation of $75,000 recommended by the budget bureau be approved to plan the Pomona Reservoir and for general improvements at Ottawa.

Urge $60,000 Appropriation Mayor George G. Schnellbacher and Lew Paratore of Topeka were among those urging appropriation of the budget-recommended $60,000 for planning of local flood control projects at Topeka. The former also favored additional work on Tuttle Creek for flood protection.

Murray Wilson of Salina and John Rogers of Abilene asked that money be provided for planning on local protection works in those cities.

Shoulders was accused of lying when he testified two suitcases, containing ransom money recovered from Hall, were taken into a St. Louis police station shortly after Hall was arrested. The prosecution contended the suitcases were not brought in until later.

$300,000 Not Yet Located The suitcases contained about $300,000 when brought to the police station. The rest of the money never has been located.

Hall and his accomplice, Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, were executed in December, 1953, for the kidnap-slitting of Bobby at Kansas City in September of that year.

The board, as usual, gave no reason for the rejection of Shoulders' parole plea. In the absence of parole action, he will be conditionally released, with time-off for good behavior, Sept. 10, 1956.

He is serving his sentence in the Federal Bureau of Prisons Medical Facility at Springfield, Mo.

Slow Down and Live— Police Participate In Nat'l Safety Education Program

Chief of Police Edgar Neighbors announced today that his department was joining in the nationwide Slow Down and Live traffic safety program.

Chief Neighbors said, "Summer vacation is an American institution and summer weekend drives have become a part of many families' weekly habits. Too often, what should have been a highway of happiness is a pathway of tragedy. The 101 days from Memorial Day to Labor Day have become the period of the highest traffic fatalities."

"The Slow Down and Live program combines the best methods of traffic accident prevention—strict enforcement of traffic laws and a gigantic safety education program—with public and official action to combat the summer-time casualty toll."

Chief Neighbors said that Col. Hugh H. Waggoner Superintendent of the Missouri Highway Patrol and State Coordinator for the Slow Down and Live program has asked that all municipal police departments aid in the program by increased enforcement of all traffic rules and regulations.

The five violations which are characteristic of in-a-hurry driving are: 1. Following too closely, 2. Improper passing, 3. Failure to yield the right of way, 4. Excessive speed, and 5. Speed too fast for conditions.

Austria Foreign Minister Calls Accord 'Turning Point In World History'; Austria To Be Neutral

VIENNA, Austria, May 12—(AP)—The Big Four agreed today on final terms for an Austrian treaty of independence. This country's foreign ministers, mindful of an impending top-level East-West meeting, called it "a turning point in world history."

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan, French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay and Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov will sign the treaty here Sunday which makes Austria a neutral in the cold war.

Independence After 17 Years Ratification will mean independence for the first time in 17 years for this nation of seven million with an area roughly equivalent to Maine or South Carolina.

Ninety days after ratification, 70,000 occupation troops of the four powers who have been in Austria for a decade will be withdrawn. Ratification is expected to be completed by Dec. 31.

Austrians were jubilant. Vienna's coffee houses rang with joy. Franz Jonas, mayor of Vienna, asked every orchestra in the city to play the national anthem at 10 a. m. Sunday, the hour set for the treaty signing.

Threatened By Deadline For a while today it looked as though a deadlock over a clause dealing with economic concessions of Austria to Austria might block or delay the treaty signing.

But a communique from the Big Four ambassadors after a meeting of 100 minutes declared "full unanimity has been reached on all articles of the draft treaty." It added that by the end of this week the Big Four foreign ministers will meet here with representatives of Austria "for the examination and signature of the Austrian state treaty."

The ambassadors of the Western Powers bumped into the deadlock three days ago when the Russians balked against revising Article 35 of the treaty to include recent concessions to the Austrians made in talks in Moscow last month.

These involved return of the great Zisterdorf oil fields and the Danube Shipping Co. to Austria.

Annex Concessions To Pact The ambassadors finally decided to make the concessions an annex to the treaty, climaxing with success nine days of negotiations. A meeting will be held tomorrow to consider technical questions connected with the correlation of the treaty texts in all four languages.

Secretary of State Dulles, who made it plain he regarded agreement on the Austrian treaty as an indication of Soviet sincerity in attempts to ease East-West tensions, announced he would fly to Vienna from Paris tomorrow.

Macmillan and Pinay will also leave from the French capital where the Atlantic Alliance welcomed West Germany as a member earlier this week.

Molotov will arrive Saturday from Warsaw, where the East European Communist nations are setting up a unified military command to counter the Western defense alliance.

The ambassadors did not take up today the question of guaranteeing Austrian neutrality, and this may be discussed by the foreign ministers in their weekend meeting here.

Postpone Pettis Boy Scouts Camp-O-Ree Camp-O-Ree for the Boy Scouts of Pettis County has been postponed until the weekend of May 20, 21 and 22, according to Boy Scout District Chairman Harry Naugel. Camp O-Ree is scheduled to begin at 6 p. m. Friday, May 20.

The postponement came after a report the site is flooded with water following rains the past few days.

Officials, Union Leaders See No Accord In Telephone Strike ATLANTA, May 12—(AP)—Top management and union leaders met for several hours today and then adjourned without reaching a settlement in the two-month-old telephone strike that has brought widespread violence in nine South-eastern states.

It was the first face-to-face meeting between union and company presidents since the strike began March 14. Legal representatives of both sides also attended the session.

HST To Speak Before Session Of Legislature JEFFERSON CITY, May 12—(AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman will speak before a joint session of the Missouri Legislature next Tuesday, May 17. The former President accepted the House's invitation today.

Time Out for a Family—

Mrs. Anna Belle Lee Realized Ambition
From Childhood When She Started Teaching

As far back as she can remember, Mrs. Anna Belle Lee, wife of Wilfred C. Lee, had wanted to be a teacher. She played school as a little girl and planned to teach when she grew up. After all she came from a family of teachers. Her mother's aunt, her sister and her sister-in-law all taught school in Johnson County for many years and with so many aunts in that profession she knew she just couldn't ever be anything else. She liked to go to school, too, and that was another thing that made her want to teach—she liked her teachers. If she had it to do over again she would again choose teaching or something that parallels it very closely—library work.

Mrs. Lee was born five miles northeast of Knob Noster, the daughter of Mrs. Eva Butterfield Marshall and the late Charles S. Marshall. She was graduated from rural Cana School and completed the teacher preparatory course for high school credit at CMSC, Warrensburg. After earning a year of college credit, having finished five years work in three years, she taught for two years at Oak Grove School southeast of the family home.

Getting those final two years at CMSC wasn't easy. She worked her way through with jobs in the library, the cafeteria, grading papers and other things, and then she received the YWCA scholarship for her senior year.

Specializing in English and social studies she was graduated with AB, BS and BS in education degrees.

Mrs. Lee was elected to Kappa Delta Pi, national honorary teachers' fraternity, and was on the honor roll for proved leadership because of campus activities. It was in August, 1953, that she received her MS in education from CMSC after she had married, reared a family and went back to teaching again.

Anna Belle's romance came in college for in her class was Wilfred Lee who was the senior class president. She married him later and taught one year after her marriage. Then she had a family and settled down to being a good wife and mother. Mr. Lee has been employed by the Missouri Public Service Co. for the past 27 years and was transferred to Sedalia from Warrensburg in April, 1948. By that time their two sons, Wilfred, Jr., and Thomas had reached the age when she could go back to her profession so she was teaching English in Knob Noster when the family moved to Sedalia.

There was no vacancy in the English department at Smith-Cotton when she applied so she agreed to teach in the upper grades. As a project for graduate credit at CMSC, she prepared for teaching social studies in the fifth, sixth and seventh grades, including correlations with art, English and music. She has as much college credit in social studies as in English, and now finds she prefers social studies.

And so, since 1948 she has been teaching at Whittier School, with the sixth grade as home room and fifth, sixth and seventh grade social studies.

In her method of teaching Mrs. Lee uses class discussion, reports and visual aids. The latter includes bulletin board displays, motion picture films, film strips, slides, maps, and when possible objects from various countries and regions. She has also had people talk to the children and show their collections from other countries. With the aid of other teachers she correlates other subjects with social science as much as possible. Another thing she has found to interest the children and keep them up with things going on in the world in which they live, is the discussion of current events. One period each week in the sixth and seventh grades she devotes to current events.

Her greatest thrill, says Anna Belle Lee, is hearing of successes of her former students.

There really are three greater thrills than that though, and their names are Linda, Richard and Cynthia. They are her three small grandchildren, the youngsters of Wilfred, Jr.

Before she returned to teaching, Mrs. Lee was active in community organizations and projects in Warrensburg where the family lived. She was a member of the Board of Managers of Missouri Congress of Parents and Teachers 1940-49.

Here in Sedalia, she finds time to do things, too, in addition to teaching and keeping house. She is vice-president of the Sedalia Community Teachers' Association, a member of the Broadway Presbyterian Church, the Sedalia Branch of American Association of University Women and the Whittier PTA.

Mrs. Lee enjoys growing flowers and like all teachers who have their heart in their work she likes to collect pictures and other materials for classroom use. Reading is another one of her hobbies and she likes to travel but she has been unable to do as much of that as she would like to do.

In Mrs. Lee's home are many family heirlooms which include a hand-loomed coverlet, furniture, books and numerous other things, some over 100 years old.

The two sons of the Lee family followed in the footsteps of their parents, one taking up the work of the mother the other the work of the father. Wilfred, Jr., is a social science teacher in the high school at Delano, Calif. The other son, Thomas, who is a graduate of Smith-Cotton, and married to the former Carole Pile, is employed in Warrensburg by the Missouri Public Service Co.

It is a busy, happy life that Anna Belle Lee lives with everything dear to a woman's heart having been hers, romance, marriage, motherhood, and now the joy of being a grandmother. Still, along with it all she has clung to the profession that was her childhood ambition. She worked hard to earn the education that she might be a teacher. And so, through the years she has woven the love of her family and the love of her profession into a successful career a career that continues on and upward into the bright future that lies ahead.

Ex-Sedalian
Seen In Leap
Into RiverCoast Guard Seeks
Kenneth Burkhardt
In The Mississippi

It was learned in Sedalia Friday night that Kenneth B. Burkhardt, 26, former Sedalian, had jumped from the Mississippi River Veterans bridge between St. Louis, Mo., and St. Louis, Ill. Burkhardt resided in Sedalia for about six months and was with KDRO-TV as an announcer, and while here resided at 1316 South Stewart.

He will be remembered as having been on the radio program "Party Time" at the local station.

Burkhardt came to Sedalia about the middle of 1954, brought here by Milt Hinlein when KDRO opened their TV station. He came here from Illinois and when the station closed down temporarily January 1, 1955 he was released and returned to Illinois to reside at Saunton, Ill.

Friends who learned of the incident Friday night recalled receiving letters from Burkhardt several days ago stating he had just been released from a hospital. No information was contained in the letters to indicate what his ailment was.

An Associated Press story from St. Louis gave this account of the incident:

Coast Guard boats tonight searched the Mississippi River here for a man seen by Patrolman Otto Gleeforst plunging into the river from the Veterans Bridge.

In East St. Louis, Ill., police said papers in a billfold, found in a car parked on the Illinois side of the bridge, bore the name Kenneth B. Burkhardt, 26. A driver's license showed his home to be Saunton, Ill., but other papers indicated Burkhardt formerly lived in Sedalia, Mo., police said.

Safety Problems

The Negro Community Council of Sedalia met Thursday at the home of its president, Carl Abbott.

Growing out of an earlier meeting and this meeting, several matters were brought forward for the improvement of safety in the community. The civic committee of the Council is now working on these matters.

Following the period of business, a free discussion on integration in the public schools was introduced.

In this discussion the progress of school integration in various communities was reviewed and the possibilities in our local community were evaluated.

It was also brought to the attention of the group the cooperative attitude that has been shown by the park board with the Negro Community Council throughout the years. Through his cooperation the Hubbard Park swimming pool was built, a shelterhouse was provided, toilet facilities installed and recently a new grandstand has been completed at the newly relocated ball diamond.

Albert Wuelfing
Plans Lecture
On Opera Music

In decided contrast to last week's subject matter, Albert Wuelfing will discuss "The Opera" at his music appreciation session on Monday evening. "Last week's topic, the sonata, is of course 'absolute music,' as are also the symphony and the concerto," he said in speaking of his plans for the coming lecture. "However, in opera the emotions are demonstrated. That is, the meaning is made clear—spelled out in words and action—while in absolute music the meaning is left to the imagination of the listener."

Some of the recordings which will be used as demonstration material are Emmanuel List singing an aria from Strauss' "Rosenkavalier;" an excellent duet by Maria Corelli and Rudolph Schrock in "O terra addio" from "Aida," and a rare item of interest, Caruso singing "O Paradiso" from Meyerbeer's "L'Africana."

The lecture and demonstration, which is the eighth in a series of ten, will be given Monday evening at 7:30 at the Sedalia Public Library, and is open to the public.

Thomas, state fourth vice-president; Mrs. John J. Dodson, state corresponding secretary of Northeast Chapter; Mrs. Theresa Sooter, president of the Mt. The charter will be open for new members for 60 days and anyone interested in becoming a member may call Mrs. Imberger or Mrs. Sims.

On Colleges, Scholarships

The approach of high school commencement each year sends many seniors and their parents to the Sedalia Public Library in search of college catalogs and information about scholarships and fellowships.

The library staff has recently received such questions as "Where are schools of nursing in Colorado?" "What is the address of the business school in Tulsa?" "Do you have a list of available scholarships and fellowships?" "What colleges have summer sessions?" and many others.

The following reference works are suggested for the inquiring student: Suzanne Emerson's "Off to College," "Choosing the Right College," by Annette Turngren, and "So This Is College," by Paul Landis. All three books present general information on college life. Another helpful book is one by Nathan H. Mager called "How to Pass College Entrance Tests."

May Wheat Ends With Fair Gains On Grain Board

CHICAGO, May 12.—A brisk short covering movement in May wheat, which eventually spread to deferred months left the bread grain with fairly substantial advances on the Board of Trade today.

Wheat was alone in showing any real strength, although most, rye and oats contracts ended slightly higher. But corn and soybeans had a weak tone throughout the session.

Wheat closed 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 cents higher, corn 1/4 to 1/2 cents lower, oats unchanged to 1/2 cent higher, rye 1/4 cent lower to 1/2 cent higher and soybeans 1 1/4 cents lower to 1/2 cent higher.

At the outset May Wheat quickly headed upward. For a long time it was alone on the plus side, but later the new crop months came ahead.

Aside from the action in wheat, there wasn't much interest in the market. Corn fell back after its little rally of the previous day. There was no further lifting of hedges against exports of the yellow grain. Rye held firm in sympathy with the wheat upturn.

Fire Destroys Grain Elevator At O'Fallon

O'FALLON, Mo., May 12.—A grain elevator of the Farmer's Co-operative Elevator Ass'n. filled to capacity with soybeans and corn, was destroyed by fire early today. Fire Chief William Steiner estimated the loss at $100,000.

A spokesman for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office said the loss of the elevator aggravates a storage space shortage for about 250,000 bushels of wheat under the federal price support program, which is now stored on St. Charles County farms.

Chief Steiner said the fire was out of control when firemen arrived and within 30 minutes the elevator tower, made of wood and sheet metal, had toppled to the ground, bringing down electric wire on Wabash Railroad tracks. The railroad ordered trains delayed until the wires could be removed.

SOMEONE REALLY LAID AN EGG!—One of C. W. Knittle's hens can be mighty proud of laying the egg at left. Broken open, the oversized egg yielded not only a normal white and yolk, but also another complete egg of normal size. Trouble is, Knittle, of Bethel, Kan., doesn't know which hen laid it. At right is an average-sized egg.

COUNTRY BOYS AT HEART—Looking more like maharajas than farmers, three turbaned Indian agriculture students, brothers, arrive in New York City to live and work temporarily on American farms. They are in the U.S. as part of the International Farm Youth Exchange program of the National 4-H Foundation. Left to right are: Amarjit, Raginder and Surinder Singh.

Interpreting The News

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

President Eisenhower is going to have to do a lot of homework in the next several weeks if he goes to meet Bulganin.

Every effort will be made in Washington to make him a walking State Department. He will be briefed and briefed and then briefed some more on all of the things which have gone on in relations with Russia over the years.

The President sounded Wednesday as though he rather expected the top-level discussion to be confined to broad general issues, with any decisions to revolve around areas in which the chiefs of state agree there is a possibility the foreign ministers can get together.

The Russian record, however, suggests that the President better be ready himself with a lot of detail. One of the greatest troubles at Yalta lay in the fact that President Roosevelt, while equipped with a vast array of State Department intelligence memoranda accompanied by advice, chose to work primarily on the broad general line of establishing a cooperative position, first with regard to the Japanese war, and then with regard to postwar problems.

Stalin, on the other hand, had a whole batch of definite post-war objectives, and by obfuscation set himself up to attain them. The Americans learned something from that experience about the way Russians use words like "democracy" and "freedom."

In many ways Eisenhower's task will be easier than Roosevelt's, because he will know definitely that he is dealing with an enemy. Plenty of people told Roosevelt that, too, but he believed he could prevent it from proving true.

One thing Eisenhower may have to do is go back over the road on which Roosevelt stumbled at Yalta—the matter of the fate of subjugated Eastern European nations.

In any consideration of things which might ease the cold war there always lies in the background the fact that the United States can't just pull out of Europe and leave the satellites in slavery. It would undermine her position throughout the world.

When President Truman went to Potsdam the chief matters of concern were procedural—how the Big Three of those days would carry out their administration of conquered territories. A detail was overlooked then which later enabled the Russians to set up their Berlin blockade and create a situation which barely skirted war.

Such inherent dangers are well known to Eisenhower and his advisers. America knows her world political lessons much better than she did ten years ago. The task and responsibility now faced by the President, however, remains monumental.

Rain Pelts Parade Before Lexington Battle Re-enactment

LEXINGTON, Mo., May 12.—A heavy rain pelted a parade today before the re-enactment of the Civil War battle of Lexington.

The rain soaked about 400 marchers in downtown Lexington and dampened floats displays by local business firms.

The weather also held down the crowd at the battle re-enactment. But the weather was at least historically accurate. The original battle in 1861 was a wet affair.

Among the participants in the parade were the Wentworth cadets, a platoon from Ft. Riley, Kan., National Guard companies from Warrensburg, Richmond and Lexington; and ROTC unit from Kansas City and the Lexington high school band.

During the early part of Wednesday night rain fell freely at intervals and it was the heaviest in this section in several weeks.

Thursday morning a fog enveloped this region with a light drizzle falling as early risers wended their way to work.

Reports were indicative the rain covered practically all of Missouri.

Calls For Inquiry Into St. Joseph, K.C., St. Louis Police

JEFFERSON CITY, May 12.—Sen. William E. Hilsman (D) of St. Louis today called for an investigation of the St. Louis, Kansas City and St. Joseph police departments.

His resolution, laid over for later action, was aimed principally at St. Louis.

Hilsman said the crime rate has been increasing in St. Louis and now far exceeds that of any other city in the same population class. The St. Louis crime situation, he declared, compares unfavorably with that of Kansas City.

The proposed investigating committee would be composed of seven senators and would report to the next general assembly.

Good Use for Surplus At Melita Day Nursery

This is the time of year when many gardeners have a surplus in their growing gardens which would mean a great deal in feeding the youngsters at Melita Day Nursery.

Potatoes and vegetables of any kind are needed at the nursery because there are so many children there and there will be even more when school is out.

The Melita Day Nursery board met Monday and this was one thing discussed. Members of the board feel that many people would be glad to donate some of their garden vegetables if they thought of it.

Indonesian Officer Resigns From Post

JAKARTA, Indonesia (P) — The government today announced the resignation of the army chief of staff, Maj. Gen. Bambang Sugeng. It gave ill health as the reason and said the Cabinet, after an all-night session, had agreed to accept.

Official sources said the 46-year-old former guerrilla leader would be given a diplomatic post abroad.

Veto Awaits Postal Raise For Certain

WASHINGTON (P)—A quick presidential veto, perhaps by Monday, reportedly awaits a bill to raise postal workers' pay 8.8 per cent.

Sen. Carlson (R-Kan.) said he is certain the Senate will sustain the veto if it comes.

The Senate passed the compromise measure 66-11 late yesterday and sent it to President Eisenhower. The House acted Monday 328-66.

Carlson said the President never had discussed a veto with him, but it was learned the White House has told key Republican lawmakers they can expect a veto message quickly.

Eisenhower, who favored a smaller raise, has said publicly only that he would study the matter carefully.

The 66-11 tally was far more than enough to override a veto, but Carlson said there would be many switches if and when the question of sustaining the President arises.

Yesterday, 37 Democrats and 29 Republicans supported the compromise. Eleven Republicans voted "No."

Carlson said he would be ready immediately with a 7.6 per cent postal pay bill if the 8.8 per cent measure is killed.

The President has let it be known he would accept an average 7.6 per cent raise, although he originally asked Congress this year for no more than 6.5 per cent.

The present bill would mean a 7 per cent pay hike for all of the half million postal employees, and more than that for most of them. It contains some reclassification features raising pay in the higher brackets by much larger percentages but not the full reclassification asked by the administration.

Ready Mix Tests Requested From Local Operators

All ready-mix concrete operators in Sedalia will have to submit to tests of materials and strength, according to information received from the office of W. C. Davis, city engineer.

Such tests according to Davis are the only way "to see if we get the proper mix." He explained that acceptable standards of one part cement, two parts sand and four parts gravel must be met by all the contractors. The tests will provide the city and the tax payers insurance that acceptable materials are being used in the construction of such projects as curb and guttering. There are no provisions here for such tests. Ready-mix operators will have to have the tests made by out-of-town firms.

Davis said that he wanted a copy of the reports on such tests, and felt that they should be made available at least once a month. It was explained that improper mix of ready concrete causes weakness of concrete and causes unnecessary repair and added expense.

Most contractors contacted in regard to the tests felt that such measures were reasonable and in accord with general practice in other areas, he said.

Arraignment Of Bank Robbery Suspect Delayed By Probers

GUYNOM, Okla., May 12.—Arraignment of a suspect in yesterday's $17,371 Hooker, Okla., bank robbery was delayed today while out-of-state offices questioned him concerning other holdups.

He has been identified as Otis Rollins Woodring of Snyder, Okla. Federal charges were filed against him at Oklahoma City. Arraignment is expected at Enid, probably tomorrow.

He was arrested at Dodge City, Kan., a few hours after the Oklahoma Panhandle robbery. All of the money but 120 was recovered and returned to the First National Bank of Hooker.

Woodring was questioned today by Kansas authorities concerning a Liberal, Kan., robbery and kidnapping Nov. 13, 1954.

Texas officers also advised the sheriff's office here they would like to question him about some robberies in the Texas Panhandle.

Italy Premier Scelba Offers Resignation

ROME, Italy, May 12.—Premier Mario Scelba went through the formality tonight of offering his resignation but Giovanni Gronchi, Italy's new president, asked him to stay in office.

There had been speculation that the 67-year-old Gronchi might accept the routine resignation and turn to someone more to the left to form a new government.

'Hot Rod' Moore Free Pending New Hearing On Traffic Conviction

ST. LOUIS (P)—Robert H. (Hot Rod) Moore was at liberty today pending a hearing May 24 over a 60-day jail term he had already started to serve.

Moore was freed yesterday by order of the St. Louis Court of Appeals pending a determination of the issues in the case. The 23-year-old St. Louisan has frequently been in trouble here over his driving.

Moore began serving the term Monday from a 1953 careless driving conviction in Glendale. It was upheld by the Pike County Circuit Court on a change of venue and appeal. Neither Moore nor his attorney appeared in the Bowling Green court when the case was called last Friday.

Henry G. Morris, Moore's attorney, said Moore was not compelled to appear in court there because change of venue bonds set at Clayton had not been executed. William H. Dahman, suburban Glendale city attorney, contended a request by Morris to the Pike County Court for continuance of the case constituted a waiver of Moore's claim the court lacked jurisdiction.
